Congressman White Pince Himself. Mr. William Bayne, chairman of the Fifth district relief committee, received a welcome letter from Congressman W. TWENTY YEARS AGO

J. White Monday morning. Mr. White had promised Mr. Bayne that in addition to his other donations to the poor he would give the lifth district committee $100. Some time passed, and nothing was heard from the congressman until Monday, when the latter arrived from

Mr. White. The matter had slipped his mind, the congressman said, but he had come to the conclusion that a slip of that kind ought to be met with a fine, and he had fined hunself $150, and would therefore inclose a check for $250 instead of $100. The money will be applied to relief work at once.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Septenate Regime.

The presidential term of M. Carnot will expire next December. That will complete 20 years of the "septenate" regime in France, where presidents remain seven years in power. Marshal MacMahon resigned in 1879, 21 months before the regular end of his term. M. Grevy filled a full period of "septenate," seven years. But he resigned his second presidency two years before its constitulional end. Before the establishment of the septemate M. Thiers had also resigned his presidential functions,-New York Tribune.

Following a Prophet.

A false prophet has arisen on the island of Jamaica. He teaches that God has given him power to make a new Bethesda of a small river on the island, Every Wednesday he stands on a rock in the stream and blesses the waters, which are then supposed to have the power of healing any disease.

The natives are crazy in the fanatic belief in the new prophet, and 20,000 pilgrims a day bathe in the waters .-- Chicago Herald

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria. SURE ANTIDOTE FOR MORPHINE.

One of the Most Wonderful Discoveries of Modern Times Is Proved.

Dr. William Moor, a specialist on therapeutics, who is a momber of the staff of the West Side German clinic, in West Forty-second street, has discovered that permanganate of potassium is an antidote for morphine poisoning, and that it will counteract within a reasonable lapse of time the effects of any of the salts of

Dr. Moor, in the presence of 12 members of the clinic who assembled on Jan. 9, swallowed what is ordinarily a fatal dose of morphine.

His fellow physicians attempted to dis suade him. Some of them left the room, declaring that they would not countenance such madness by their presence.

But Dr. Moor persisted in committing "suicide" with the utmost cheerfulness. He thereupon swallowed three grains of morphine in two teaspoonfuls of water and immediately afterward drank a solution of four grains permanganate of potassium in four ounces of water.

Deadly languor and death must have followed ordinarily, for Dr. Moor swallewed three grains of the drug, a positively fatal dose in his case, as he is surersensitive to the effect of narcotics. But the permanganate of potassium did its work well. In the braness of the meeting which followed the experiment no head was clearer than Dr. Moor's, and when it came to eating, drinking and making merry some hours after yard be was quite as active a particulant as there was in the party.—New York II ral!

Arthur Quiller-Couch's story called The Pauper' contains the description of a poor old couple who give the last little entertainment to their friends before going into the workhouse. It seems to be the usual thing for Cornish folks, whose hospitality even under the most disadvantageous circumstances is proverbial. They like to make a splash before going under. "Miss Scantlebury did it better'n anybody I've heard tell of," say these gossips. "When sho fell into redoced circumstances, she sold the eight day clock, that was the only thing o' value she had left. Brown o' Tregarrick made it, with a very curious brass dial, whereon he carved a full rigged ship that rocked like a cradle an went down stern foremost when the hour struck. 'Twas worth walking a mile to see. Brown's grandson bought it off Miss Scantlebury for 2 guineas, he being proud of his grandfather's skill, an the old lady drove into Tragarrick workus behind a pair of grays wi' the proceeds. Over and above the carriage hire she'd enough left to adorn the horses wi' white favors an give the rider a crown, large as my lord. Aye, an at the workus door she said to the fellow, said she: 'All my life l've longed to ride in a bridal chariot, an though my only lover died of a decline when I was scarce 22 I've done it at last,' said she, 'an now heaven an airth can't undo it!'

ONE GIRL'S FUNERAL.

it Was In the Early Days of Montana and Was Different From Most Funerals.

Was Different From Most Funerals.

During the construction days of the Northern Pacific railroad many small towns were born that flourished until the road was completed and then died. The little story following actually occurred and made an impression on me that I shall never forget. To me there was a tinge of sadness that went straight to the heart. I occupied the exalted position of justice of the peace. Now, a justice of the peace in Montana in early days was a bigger man than the chief justice of the United States is today and had a perpetual variety entertainment. He married people, buried the dead, put out fires, took a drink with everybody, refereed dog fights, settled family rows, preached, and speeches and had to be ready for fights, settled family rows, preached, made speeches and had to be ready for any kind of work. For this aggregation

One cold morning I was waited upon by a delegation of gamblers and informed that one of the girls was dead. They said she had passed in her checks during the night, and as she was the slickest girl in the camp she was to have a 24 carat sendoff and no mistake. I went around to see the body to find out, if possible, the cause of her death. I was satisfied that the girl had taken morphine and died from the effects, and so I rendered my decision, which satisfied all. I set the hour for the funeral and returned to the cabin to prepare my remarks. OFFICE - New Nevada Bank Building, There was not a Bible in the camp, and so I had to play it alone. It was a cold, to 3:30 P. M. Residence, Corner Sierra and added much to the sadness of the occasion. The grave was dug out among the would have been hard to find, but it was the best we had or could get. The hour arrived; the procession formed, myself in front of the pallbearers, consisting of gamblers, with the body in rear. We wended our way slowly to the last resting place, where, alone and unknown, amid the rocks and pines, with the awful stillness of the mountains, all that was earthly of that unfortunate girl pines, and a more God forsaken place it would stay until the last day. No one could pray; no one could sing. I poured out my soul to my God in my poor, stumbling way-told him all about it. We were unanimous in the belief that she was more sinned against than sinning, and would he in his infinite goodness and loving kindness forgive her wipe out all the black spots on her soul forget her past and save her for her soul's sake? Would be suspend all rules, throw open wide the portals of heaven, have sweetest music played on a thousand golden harps and bid that poor, tired, piness, purity and rest? It was our funeral, because everybody did all they could. There were but few of all kinds, to be sure, but humans with souls to save. There are many of the old boys scattered through the northwest who will recollect that stormy Montana day, and how we knocked at eternity's door for admittance for that girl's soul, and all will agree that our knocking was not in vain—that the gates

A Lost Pisherman's Story. "I had been fishing for trout one day in a North Carolina mountain stream, said a sportsman, "and was entirely un-

The cave was dry and comfortable, and making a pillow of my coat I soon fell asleep. The next morn ing I was awakened by something pull ing at the coat, and opening my eyes saw that it was a cub bear. sitting on its haunches and another cub playing around her. I had no weapon

> She sat watching the cub as it pulled at my coat, and I was careful to make no motions that might be considered as hos tile. For two or three hours we looked at each other, and then the mother bear ambled off with her two cubs, and I beat a hasty retreat."-St. Louis Globe-Dem-A Pleason! Mr n to Interview. Professor W. Adler, the founder of the Ethical Culture society, is a most > pleasant gentleman to interview. He says that he has found the newspaper man to be honorable in the highest degree, and that he has never found it necessary to indicate what part of his conversation is intended for publication and what part is to be considered as purely personal. This of course means that Professor Adler does not limit himself in an interview to the matter directly in hand. He is not unwilling to speak of things that are entirely too personal for publication and will give an elaborate

> Blindness Not Necessary. Simkins was speaking about his visit to the blind asylum, and he wound up by saying what fun it would be to have some of the blind men as fellow boarders. "It would be rich," he said, "to put a cup of hot water before them and to see them gravely drink it, supposing it tea or coffee." "Awfully funny," said Mrs. Simkins. Then she thought and
